WITHOUT THE LAST PIECE THE ERP PUZZLE WILL NOT WORK

- As with anything complex, implementing an IT system needs the engagement, commitment, and close cooperation of two partners: The implementation consultant and your company's management team. Here are some of the keys to a successful implementation that your management team should consider:
 - Strong project leadership
 - The right team management
 - Proactive project design
 - Key identification
 - Complete and timely information exchange
 - Rapid root cause analysis
 - The correct training
 - Affective change control
- Computex offers a wide range of ERP expertise consisting of Project management, Functional and Technical team members following Oracle AIM methodologies.
